Hello John:

Reference our extended phone conversation last week [11/06] pertaining to patent application # 10627826 "Electromagnetic Brain Animation".

We believe all necessary corrections have been accomplished reference claims 1 through 31. Format is as stated by USPTO reference:

37 CFR 1.75, MPEP 608.01 [m] and 35 U.S.C. 112

After mentioning to you that we were going to fax those corrections, I've been advised to mail them 'certified' your attention. We have concluded all manufacturing, testing and clinical research. Following that, we have presented and demonstrated fully hospital/office ready EBA prototypes to relevant industry. A minimum of three major medical and bioengineering conglomerates are, in actual fact, waiting for 'final allowance' so that they may begin application for sole licensing rights. We have accomplished all that we had any interest in doing - and we have expended a considerable amount of funds along the way. Now, our part is finished; we are quite content to let the psycho-diagnosticians now take EBA to the public for much needed treatment..

Other corporate organizations have become aware of electromagnetic brain animation for more intriguing reasons. Outside colleagues have been kind enough to let us know that more 'covert' investigation have taken place for purposes different from possible licensing rights. Good judgment and common sense indicate our property must be resolutely protected. I will be in contact with you throughout this final, and we hope expeditiously examining procedure. You already have all information relating to numerous avenues of communication with me. Please utilize at your leisure and when ever necessary.

Thank you,

Bill
